This example of filial regard, it is fervently hoped, will, by its successful inauguration and accomplishment, excite in other families inheriting the blood of the pilgrim fathers of New England, a desire to commemorate each and every one of the worthy band of self-sacrificing spirits, who, flying from the cruel persecutions of their fatherland, self-exiled to a barren shore, laid among savage strangers the foundation of a great republic the freest in the world a refuge and a home to the oppressed of every nation, clime and tongue.
